FIRST TECH MEMBER WINS 100,000 VISA REWARDS POINTS IN NATIONAL “A MILLION AND MORE SWEEPSTAKES”

Mountain View, Calif. – March 7, 2013 – First Tech Federal Credit Union, the nation’s leading credit union serving employees and family members of America’s technology sector, announces the winner of its “A Million and More Sweepstakes” promotion. First Tech member, David Servatius of Beaverton, Ore. was awarded 100,000 bonus rewards points for using his First Tech rewards credit card during the fourth quarter 2012 promotion.

First Tech participated in the nationwide “A Million and More Sweepstakes” promotion, which kicked off Nov. 1, 2012 and ran through the end of the year. The sweepstakes gave First Tech Rewards credit card holders the chance to win national prizes, including 1,000,001 rewards points and vacation packages to Las Vegas, New York City or Chicago. In conjunction, First Tech offered 100,000 bonus rewards points for one lucky member. First Tech Rewards credit card holders were automatically entered into the contest every time they made a purchase with their card during the promotion period.

“Many of our members already use their rewards credit cards during the holidays to maximize rewards points,” commented Randy Schultz, First Tech’s manager of product management and development. “The ‘Million and More Sweepstakes’ was a nice way to give them an opportunity to win prizes and a lot of bonus rewards points.”

Mr. Servatius plans to use his bonus reward points to take his family on a vacation and any left over bonus points will be spent to purchase gifts for loved ones.
